HAIGHT'S QUESTIONS and ANSWERS for

BAR EXAMINATION REVIEW

SECOND EDITION, REVISED AND ENLARGED

A new and thoroughly up-to-date book for the use of Law Students in all the States in preparing for the Bar or Law School Examinations.

by

CHARLES S. HAIGHT, M.A. (Yale), LL.B. (Harvard), OF THE NEW YORK BAR

and

ARTHUR M. MARSH, B.A. (Yale), LL.B. (Harvard),
OF THE CONNECTICUT BAR

In this work the authors, it is believed, have met the needs of law students in a more thorough and satisfactory way than has ever been done before.

In many of the previous books, old examinations papers have been largely relied upon in choosing the questions to be treated, and in some cases that plan has been so far followed, that only questions have been discussed which have actually been put by some examining board. The result of such a system was that all of the principles of the law upon which former examiners had not touched, were entirely ignored, and the book was practically useless if a new board of examiners saw fit to prepare new questions.

In the present work, however, such a plan has been carefully avoided, and the different subjects of the law have been treated in the same logical way for review that they would originally be studied by the student.

By this method of treatment the whole ground has been covered, and the book has thus been made as valuable for use in one State as another, and students of any law school may use the book with equal advantage, no matter at what bar they are seeking admission. The present book is the only one of the kind which requires the application of legal principles to a statement of the facts given in the question. The work thus meets the requirements of students, in view of the marked change, in this respect, in the nature of the questions now asked by bar examiners.

It will also be found of great assistance to law students in preparing for their Law School Examinations.

The book covers all the subjects embraced in a full law course, and may also be used to advantage by lawyers as a book for speedy reference, and will be especially useful to those who have but limited use of a library. As far as such a thing is possible, it is a pocket encyclopaedia of legal principles and leading cases.

Following is a list of subjects fully covered in this great work:

Agency, Bankruptcy, Bills and Notes, Carriers, Constitutional Law, Contracts, Corporations, Criminal Law, Damages, Domestic Relations, Equity, Evidence, Insurance, Partnership, Pleading; Common Law, Pleading and Practice under the N. Y. Code of Civil Procedure, Property, Personal; Property, Real, Sales, Suretyship, Torts, Trusts.

HAIGHT'S QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS, Second Edition, is an octave volume of more than 600 pages, handsomely bound in law canvas. Price $4.00 net, but delivered to any address on receipt of the price.

Which Route?

WHEN you have a brief to prepare on a certain narrow point you have to travel over one of three routes to your goal. Which do you take?

The Blazed Trail is still popular with some lawyers. They plunge into a veritable forest of unselected reports of cases from all jurisdictions. There being many branching paths, most of them leading nowhere, they are frequently obliged to retrace their steps. One may arrive after great labor by this route, and find that he has what appears to be a very good brief, but is he sure?

The Stage Coach is much quicker and safer; a road has been laid out and sign posts erected by means of text books, encyclopedia, digests and other variations on the same general plan, which gives no reported cases. The road is rough and the break-downs frequent on this route, but it is a much more satisfactory way of preparing a brief than the tedious hunt through reports without any other aid than that of digests of single sets.

The direct All Rail Route furnished by Lawers Reports Annotated is the only one by which you go straight to your destination in the shortest possible time. By it you find your exact brief point covered by a note with all the cases from the earliest times analyzed, and one or more late cases reported in full with briefs of counsel. You are saved all the useless search among cases which are of no value, and you cannot be misled by what some author says the law is, as in the L.R.A. note you have enough facts given from each case cited to judge for yourself.

More lawyers use Lawyers Reports Annotated than any other set of reports published.

Send for 600 page Desk Book for Brief Makers and take the trip yourself—if you have not the L.R.A. Digests from which the Desk Book is compiled. 25c will pay transportation.

A 1909 Work on a 1909 Subject

Joyce on Injunctions

by Howard C. Joyce, of New York City

An especially timely work just now when relief is so often sought through injunctions. It states the law as it is TO-DAY, covering the subject fully and emphasizing and amplifying the many unusual points considered during the past few years.

It is the only modern work on the subject, concise yet covering every phase of the law, with every citation to a proposition of law directly in point.

Labor Matters, Strikes, Boycotts, Conspiracies, Monopolies, Contracts in Restraint of Trade, Laws Regulating Rates of Public Service Corporations are treated in their modern aspects. For many new phases of these subjects have been up for judicial interpretation in the past ten years and important decisions have been made.

In No Other Work, we believe, will be found so complete, exhaustive and up to date a Treatment of Live Subjects and New Constructions of particular interest in regard to the law of Injunctions as construed by the courts to-day.

THIRD EDITION ENLARGED AND RE-WRITTEN

By GEORGE RICHARDS, LL.B., M.A.

This book is not merely a thorough revision to date; it is wholly re-written and replated. During its long continued preparation no trouble or expense has been spared to make it complete and convenient. The author has been actively engaged in the practice of insurance law for over thirty-two years, and has at times been lecturer on this subject at the Columbia and New York Law Schools.

CERTAIN SPECIAL FEATURES OF THIS TREATISE:

1. The practical scope and useful contents of several large volumes comprised within the compass and cost of one: (a) concise coarse-print text; (b) voluminous, digested fine-print notes; (c) a mass of case-law construing obsolete forms of policies omitted; (d) recent American and English decisions relating to all forms of modern policies.
2. A thorough consideration, Part I., of general principles, and Part II., of the clauses in sequence of all the policies.
3. The facts of many cases given with unusual fulness coupled with the precise holding of the court. Quotations from opinions, if given, and subsidiary points, relegated to foot notes.
4. Important cases and vexed problems carefully presented and critically examined.
5. Not a digest, but a treatise; the work none of it turned over to subordinates.
6. Origin and reasons for legal doctrines traced and explained; decisions on different branches of insurance law compared and contrasted.
7. An appendix of statutes affecting the contract made up from the original statutes of all the States.
8. An elaborate collection of standard and other policies, special clauses and other forms.
9. An essay on non-concurrent apportionments, and illustrations of the operation of co-insurance clauses by Willis O. Robb, Esq., adjuster of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters.
10. An adjustment in general average by Harrington Putnam, Esq., of the New York Bar, assisted by Messrs. Johnson & Higgins, adjusters.
11. An Index, thorough and, so far as deemed desirable, made analytical.

A New Treatment of a Large and Growing Subject

Underhill on Landlord and Tenant

Embracing the Lease (Its Form, Execution, Construction, Assignment, Surrender and Parties to it), Various kinds of Tenancy Created, Rent and its Incidents. Eviction, Destruction of the Premises, Landlord's Negligence, Duty to Repair, Emblements, : : Fixtures, Etc. : :

By H. C. UNDERHILL, of the New York City Bar, Author of "Wills," "Civil Evidence," "Criminal Evidence," Etc.

This book has been in active preparation for eight years, and is the ripened product of an author well and favorably known to the profession, especially by his work on "Wills," 2 Volumes (1901), which, by common consent, is acknowledged to be the authority upon the subject.

The author considers first—The Parties to a Lease, the Form and Execution of the Lease, and the various Forms of the Relation of Landlord and Tenant, which are Recognized by Law. The Attornment of the Tenant, his Possession and the Rent are then considered. Very full treatment is also given to Fraud as grounds for setting aside a Lease, the Use of the Premises, Tenant's Estoppel and Option to Purchase.

The treatment given is concise and to the point, and at the same time is sufficiently full to give all the law. A full line of American and English cases are cited to the date of going to press. Those cases which have been reversed or overruled are noted. Parallel citations are given to the National Reporter System, L. R. A., Trinity Series, Etc.

It is believed that the members of the profession will welcome the book as a useful and a valuable addition to their law libraries.
